HELLGATE HIGH SCHOOL

MISSOULA, MONTANA

Hellgate Emerges As a Four Year School

This year is the beginning of a new school and the continuation of an old one. Built in 1908, the Higgins Avenue building served as the public high school until 1956 when the South Avenue building appeared to take care of the rising number of students. During the years 1956 and 1963 the Higgins Avenue building held only the freshmen and sophomores. 1964 saw a share of the juniors of Missoula in Higgins Avenue and a new name, Hellgate High School. In the fall of 1965, Hellgate emerged as a complete four year school. New traditions were made and old ones continued.

Senior level courses had to be added to the curriculum. Hellgate made room for physics, typing, advanced mathematics, humanities and vocational courses. A new era had begun as seniors hurriedly applied to colleges and took scholarship and placement tests. Not completely independent, vocational agriculture and auto mechanics students commute daily by bus to the South Avenue building or Sentinel.

Although the building at Higgins Avenue has been here for six decades, Missoula is proudly watching the development of a new school, Hellgate.

Seniors spent several Saturdays taking college placement tests. Here students from Hellgate and other high schools try to do their best on the ACT tests.

With the addition of typewriters, juniors and seniors are able to take various typing classes.

The number of freshmen was dropped by half with Hellgate operating as a four year school. A favorite place for freshmen is the "Pay 'N' Take It."

Welding students learn skills that will help them in a vocation later in life.

Various Activities Interest All Students

Establishing new traditions and regulations was the responsibility of the Student Council headed by Charles Briggs.

The year of transition is over and a new period of adjustment has begun. Besides the continuation of established organizations, new clubs have been added such as Thespians and Quill and Scroll. The numerous and various activities include interests from math to skiing. For the first time Hellgate Knights competed in the class AA conference. A Marching Band, Cheerleaders, Twirlers, Pep Club, and newly formed Drill Team boosted the spirits of both students and the team. The uniqueness and newness of Hellgate is exemplified in the medieval names of the publications, athletic teams and music groups.

Colorful outfits of the various organizations range from the standard blue sweater of Key Club to the unique red blazer and skirt of Pep Club. The representatives and their respective organizations are Karen Cash, Future Nurses; Patti Nolan, Girls' Club; Pat Harsell, Future Homemakers; Cheryl Taylor, Orchesis; Patty Francisco, Cheerleaders; Randy Kappes, M Club; Linda Overcast, Pep Club; Roberta Broderick, Girls' Recreation Association; Lex Hames, Key Club; Brenda McKinney, Drill Team; Dan Reinoehl, Future Farmers.

Fall

The summer months cooled into Fall and the 1965-66 school-year began. The concept of the old Higgins building being a separate high school apart from the new South Avenue unit had been formulating for several years and by school-year '64-'65 Hellgate H.S. came into existence. It was not, however, until this year that Hellgate existed as a completely separate four-year high school. So as the brightly colored Indian summer unfolded, the student life of Hellgate began to develop.

The usual routine of Freshmen getting acquainted, wild Sophomores boasting of the greatness of their class, and the Juniors wishing they were Seniors, occurred. But this first Senior class was in a unique position. Since their Sophomore year they had been the upper class. Now they along with the lower classes had to begin formulating the standards and traditions that would be Hellgate H.S., treading on new ground and making their own mistakes.

Things began to move the first of October when a Pep Assembly before the first home game provided skits. About this same time the speech and drama departments were beginning to move. The first big speech meet was at Great Falls Public in which Hellgate was well represented. Preparations for the first drama production, The Curious Savage also began rolling. The all-girl dance group, Orchesis, began organizing themselves. Orchesis did not plan any production this year, but just formulated techniques for future years.

In the Fall many Seniors scrambled about gathering information about scholarships, college applications, and took tests such as the ACT and College Boards. During this same time the Montana Interscholastic Editorial Association for high school journalists met at the U. of M. Hellgate was given the honor of having the '66-'67 president.

The unity of the school was not sparked until the week leading to Silver M Day. A large noise-rally in the parking lot Monday evening, combined with the chanting in the halls Monday and Tuesday, ignited the flame of unity. Then, Wednesday, All-Knights Day, the spirit rose to a frenzied pace with a large hall chant, an hour-long Pep Assembly, and the bon-fire in the Field House parking lot Wednesday night. By game-time Thursday the students were united and had a definite goal in mind. The spirit of good competition predominated even though the Knights lost by two points. From here on, in every field of student life the students were truly united, and Hellgate H.S. was finally establishing itself.

Winter came late to Missoula. The weather stayed fairly pleasant through December allowing participation in the various forms of student life without much of the snow and cold. With the progress of basketball season, a group of junior and senior boys called the Hellgate Raisers organized to help build solid school enthusiasm and formulate a healthy, competitive spirit and pride in all aspects of the student culture. They, indeed, brought a refreshingly original approach to the task. This was most readily apparent in their strong chanting at games, which was designed to stimulate their fellow students—especially males—to cheer.

The winter season showed that Hellgate was outstanding in many ways. Hellgate received four of the six Elks Leadership awards. Speech and drama demonstrated willingness to compete cooperatively, and overcame many difficulties. In February the drama department with the aid of the music department staged the musical, Li'l Abner.

Student Council established a Rebeautification Committee to objectively upgrade certain physical characteristics in the school, especially the appearance of the halls. But the most outstanding single event of this season was the first basketball game between Hellgate and Sentinel on January 22. The Knights were never behind the entire game, and defeated the Spartans 86-76.

There were, indeed, many events which made up winter student life. It was a time of building the student character and forming the heritage of the building for the coming years.

Spring was a time of great excitement for Hellgate. Though actual spring was initiated with the usual Missoula snow storm, this was soon followed by warm days of sunshine. The most readily apparent occurrence that ushered in the freshness, beauty and sunshine of spring was Hellgate not only beating Sentinel in the Divisional Tournament, but sweeping the entire meet on March 5 against Libby, 79-60. But the irony came in the final game at the State Tournament. Again the Knights met Libby only this time losing 72-70. The tearful student body left Butte with sad hearts. However, the second place position was indeed an honor for the new school; Hellgate was quite proud of their team. The Hellgate Tournament queen candidate, Jael Marchi, was co-Tournament Queen with Butte Central's.

As spring progressed, it witnessed a flourish of exciting and significant events: the District Speech Meet, March 25 and 26, followed by the State Meet April 22 and 23; the MCHS Orchestra Concert March 9, and the combined Band-Orchestra Concert March 29; the District Science Fair March 19, then the State Science Fair April 2.

The first Senior group with incoming Juniors for National Honor Society were chosen March 14, forty-two new members in all. Student Council continued with its Rebeautification Committee, and Twirp Week, but its big event was the April 29-30 Hellgate-Sentinel Regional Convention with Mr. Gerald VanPohl, National Director of the National Association of Student Councils and other interested schools around Montana.

May was a good time. It proved to be a more relaxing month for some students. It began with the annual Junior Prom, April 30. The theme this year dealt with the beauty of the underwater world, and proved to be a difficult yet interesting project for the Juniors. It was the first prom held in the Hellgate building in a decade. During Interscholastic, twenty-five Hellgate students participated in a model UN for Montana high school students. Hellgate represented Hungary, Nigeria and Iceland.

For the Seniors, spring was a time of reflection amidst their final high school functions and preparations for college. Though they dreamed of the graduation All-Night party at Lolo Hot Springs and, according to custom, became very lax in effort the last weeks, they did look with great expectation to the challenge of the future now that this portion of their life was finished. For all, Freshmen through Seniors, this last breath of Hellgate H.S., 1965-66, was memorable. In essence, the entire first full year for Hellgate was a time to remember.

The gavel sounds, and another Student Council meeting is called to order. Subjects on the agenda range from routine committee reports to discussions on council projects.

In the 1965-66 school year Student Council added funds to its treasury by selling school sweatshirts and pennants. A main concern of Student Council was stressing school culture, with the objective of having students and school organizations show their pride in Hellgate by helping improve the internal decor of the building.

To maintain an effective student government, leadership and coordination are necessary. The council, with the guidance of the executive board, provided these qualities to direct this organization concerned with student activities and welfare.

Service Clubs Aid Hellgate

Girls' Club and Key Club are two of the most important service groups at Hellgate.

Added to their continuous job of operating the student store, Girls' Club sponsored a Mother's Day tea and style show. With their profits they purchased a set of banquet china for the school.

Key Club, involved with keeping Hellgate's halls spotless, donated several garbage cans to the school. Throughout the year they sponsored a number of socials. To finance their activities, Key Club sold apples and copies of "Knight Life," the student directory.

The chief objectives of Pep Club, Booster Club, and the Hellgate Raisers were to support the Hellgate Knights and boost school spirit. These goals were successfully achieved through the combined efforts of these organizations.

Pep Club's major functions this year were organizing the Homecoming activities, selling concessions at football games, and arranging special pep assemblies for the more important games.

For the first time a boys' pep club, dubbed the Hellgate Raisers, was organized. The Raisers added spice to athletic activities by chanting original cheers. Their major activities included performing skits at pep assemblies, and coming up with unique ideas for bolstering school enthusiasm.

Booster Club was organized as a "little sister" to Pep Club. Members included sophomore girls with a C average, whose ultimate goal was to become members of Pep Club. Booster Clubbers constructed signs and sold concessions at football games. At the end of the school year the girls were eligible for membership in Pep Club, if they passed an examination on Pep Club's constitution.

M Club is composed of boys who have earned letters in any of the official high school sports. This year one of M Club's special projects was sponsoring the divisional basketball tournament souvenir programs containing pictures of all participating teams. They also sold pop and programs at Hellgate games and conducted a booster pin campaign in homerooms. The profits were used to purchase athletic equipment for the teams and pay for filming basketball and football games.

M Club was faithfully backed by the cheerleaders who attended games and aroused enthusiasm from the crowds. Through long hours of practice the girls perfected their cheers and school spirit soared. The varsity squad participated in many assemblies including some which were held before school hours.

Thespians Present "The Curious Savage"

Hellgate's newly-organized Thespians displayed their dramatic abilities during the production of "The Curious Savage." The students worked diligently on the psychological comedy, and their final product was highly praised by many who attended. The play was directed by Miss Linda Bruns, the new drama coach.

As Glenn Junkert (Earthquake Magoon) watches tensely, the citizens of Dogpatch prepare to take off "backside over Teakettle" in the Sadie Hawkins Day race.

Jackie Mitchell's shapely legs become even prettier as she carefully applies leg makeup for her role of Stupefyin' Jones.

Rosaline Ward (Daisy Mae) and John Semmens (Li'l Abner) gaze longin'ly into each other's eyes as David Herbert (Marryin' Sam) pronounces them "man and wife."

Eric Henke (General Bullmoose) and Lynda Ambrose (Apasionata von Climax) are stunned by Bob Maxson's (Evil Eye Fleagle) triple whammy.

When you hear the words yo-kumberry tonic, what comes to mind? Approximately 100 students think of one thing—"Li'l Abner."

These 100 students are the cast of Hellgate's first musical "Li'l Abner," who lived nowhere but in Dogpatch, U.S.A., for over a month. Because of Mr. Neil Dahlstrom and Miss Linda Bruns' dedication to their directorships and the cast's many hours of work the musical comedy was a great success and will not be quickly forgotten.

Thespians

Thespians was new to Hellgate this year. The group is composed of drama students who have earned a certain number of points. Throughout the year these students busied themselves by participating in several plays as well as working on stage and lighting crews.

Members of the Modern Language Club had their knowledge of foreign lands greatly increased this year. Once a month the club featured a speaker who had been to a foreign land or was in some way connected with one. At Christmas the members had a caroling and pinata party. This annual event proved to be quite enjoyable for all participants.

The members of T and I spent three hours daily working on their cars learning the intricate details of mechanics. Because Hellgate did not have the proper facilities for this particular class, the boys were forced to commute between Sentinel and Hellgate.

By harvesting 700 bushels of wheat and 300 bushels of oats, the Future Farmers again combined club activities with vocational training. To add to their technical abilities, they fenced 100 acres of land and built a machine shed and a grain storage bin.

FTA was extremely busy during the year. One of the club's major projects was tutoring the special education students. Members sacrificed study halls to do this. For practical training the seniors observed gradeschool classrooms.

Orchesis

Preparation for Orchesis at Hellgate began this year. Girls interested in modern dance practiced in the gym every Wednesday under the supervision of Mrs. Eskridge, advisor. At the year's end, tryouts were held and those who passed were selected for Hellgate's first Orchesis group, beginning production next year.

Troubadour

The Troubadour, Hellgate's student literary magazine, was published for the second time this year. Following its first year's pattern of excellence, it contained many interesting and well written stories.

Second Year Proves Successful for Journalists

Many changes took place during the Lance's second year of publication. Staff members devoted extensive time to the creation of new features, clever heads for already established columns, and generally improving the paper. These hours of labor helped make the Lance an extremely interesting and clever newspaper which was praised highly by many readers.

"Halberd. H-A-L-B-E-R-D." The student body learned the name of the yearbook in this manner at the staff dance last fall. During the year, the staff discovered that establishing a new tradition is no simple task. Areas which were greatly stressed were the cover, photography and page design. Throughout the year, the staff strived to create a colorful and interesting view of Hellgate student life.

Concert Choir

Deep expression and rich tone were the major areas stressed by the Concert Choir. Because of this, the choir was warmly received at all its performances which included, the "Gloria," "Cantata" and the musical comedy "Lil' Abner."

Show tunes and popular pieces composed the repertoires of the Chevaliers and Chansonettes. These selections, coupled with tremendous personality projection and interesting choreography, helped to make both groups extremely appealing to service clubs and other organizations throughout the city.

Two groups adding to Hellgate's fine musical reputation were Concert Band and Orchestra.

At its first performance of the year Concert Band received a standing ovation. In later concerts, the group continued to demonstrate its outstanding ability.

Under the direction of Mr. Herbig, the combination Hellgate-Sentinel Orchestra, rated by many as "the best high school orchestra in the Northwest," won wide acclaim throughout the city and state.

Several reasons why our school spirit never sagged are the two Pep Bands, the Twirlers, and the Drill Team. The Pep Bands performed at home basketball games by alternating weeks. The Twirlers, in addition to marching at football games, often provided the half-time entertainment for basketball games. The Drill Team, which is newly formed, demonstrated its flashy routines last fall for Hellgate football fans.

After having completed two weeks of tryouts, Cantata and Gloria soloists were chosen. These individuals went through many days of strenuous practice before they were prepared for their public performances. Following the music department's pattern of excellence, the soloists received a great amount of public acclaim. "The kids did a much better job than I had even dared hope for," Mr. Neil Dahlstrom, director, exclaimed.

Service

An innovation this year was the many honors won by seniors. Hellgate students received numerous scholarships, won various contests and gained much recognition.

Filling in small dots can be very frustrating as Martin Heath demonstrates while taking ACT tests.

Rereading her letter of recognition is Sandy Joscelyn, Hellgate Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow, and Janet Ormesher, the DAR winner of Hellgate.

Scholars Earn Recognition

Elks' Scholar

Chosen for high qualities of character, service and leadership with at least a 3.00 grade point average, 42 students were the first to be initiated into the Hellgate chapter of National Honor Society. Five of the 42 were juniors.

However, NHS is not the only way of rewarding scholastic excellence. A highly coveted individual honor is the Elks' Scholarship. This award consists of a scholarship to the college of your choice plus an opportunity to compete in the national contest.

Equally important are the National Merit Semifinalists. If these students are chosen as finalists, they too are awarded large scholarships.

Alden Pritchett, Hellgate's only Elks Scholar, took first place and a large scholarship in the contest.

Hellgate's National Merit Semifinalists, Martin Heath, Lex Hames, Doug Taber and Alden Pritchett, were selected on the basis of the National Merit Test which they took during their junior year.

Students Display Abilities

Hellgate students rated very highly in personal awards. Because these students were interested in and dedicated to the activities in which they participated, these few were awarded scholarships and state-wide recognition.

Hellgate's Elks' Leaders are Charles Briggs, second, Janice Davis, first, Lex Hames, third, and Linda Overcast, third. Each student was awarded a scholarship.

Betty Crocker Homemaker

DAR Winner

Sandra Joscelyn was chosen as Hellgate's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow on the basis of tests which she took along with other interested senior girls. After having been chosen as Hellgate's candidate, Sandra's test scores were sent to the state competition where she was named first runner-up.

Janet Ormesher is the 1966 winner of the DAR award. Nominated by senior homerooms, Janet was selected on the basis of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

Journalists

This music honorary is composed of outstanding members of the chorus, band and orchestra. Modern Music Masters' major objective is to promote participation in the school's musical activities. Throughout the year, the musicians busied themselves with the district and state music festivals and the sponsorship of several recitals.

Quill and Scroll, a journalism honorary, has as members top journalists from the Halberd, Lance and Troubadour staffs. A candy apple sale was the group's major activity for the third quarter. The journalists initiated aspiring writers several times during the year.

"I felt that I knew a lot about our government when I got to Girls' State, however, I discovered how limited my knowledge really was." These words seemed to express the feelings of Hellgate's delegates to Boys' and Girls' State. While attending various sessions, students learned much about election procedures and the operation of city, county and state governments.

They Fight for the Glory of the Scarlet and Gold

Pigskin experts, and Hellgate High, know that a steady place in the win column does not necessarily constitute a great high school football team.

Through true sportsmanship and honor in an all-out team effort towards victory, our Knights exemplified the real qualities of football competition.

Though plagued by injuries suffered by many of the 29 returning lettermen, Hellgate's first year in State AA Class football radiated drive and self-determination. Grueling, endless hours of practice, supplemented by movie films of their games, resulted in strong performances on the gridiron. Mr. Robert Casey and Mr. Frank Eckes molded their boys with never-ending patience and close, careful guidance.

Realizing that it is much harder to be a good loser than a triumphant victor, Missoulians were unanimous in their respect and admiration of the Knights. In years to come, Hellgate will have winning teams, but the Knights of 1965 will be remembered, warmly and proudly, for the way they conducted themselves under adverse conditions.

"Blood, sweat and tears" reflected in the faces of Bob Charles and Buzz Blastic.

To Martens' Matmen

Victory Is Sweat

Mr. Rainer Martens, varsity coach.

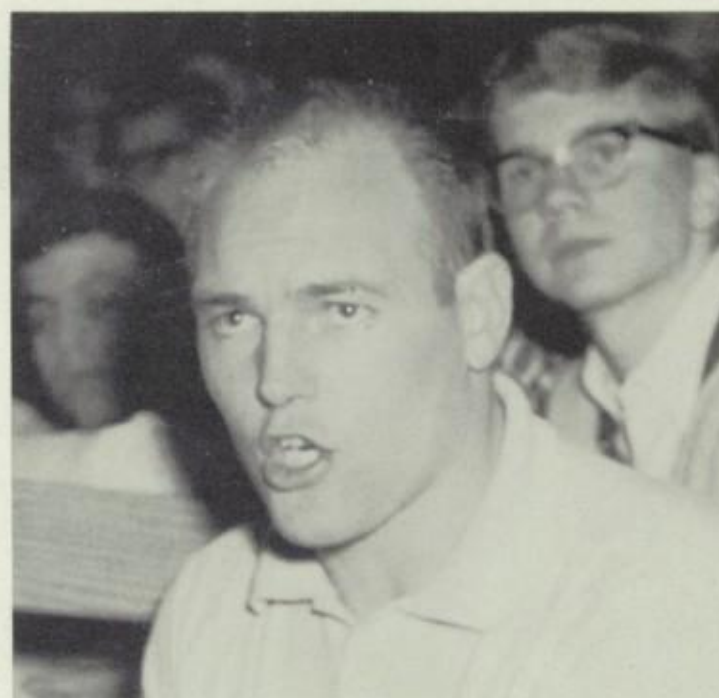

With the mats warm, bodies limber and lithe, Hellgate's second wrestling season reached its climax capturing fifth place at the state wrestling tournament in Kalispell. Preceding this, the varsity placed second and advanced 11 men from the Missoula Divisional.

Rugged practice sessions of fearsome grappling and calisthenics aided the agony of ceaseless dieting to meet standards. All this, plus the talent and experience of the men behind the mat, Mr. Rainer Martens and Mr. Glen Iverson, resulted in a record of 15 wins, three losses and one tie.

Dedicated hard work upholds the prestige of a school, and with the eager enthusiasm necessary for success, the Scarlet and Gold wrestlers merited their fans' unlimited pride.

Going for a takedown and another victory, Frank Jewell outmaneuvers John Knudsen of Sentinel. Final outcome — a 4-0 decision.

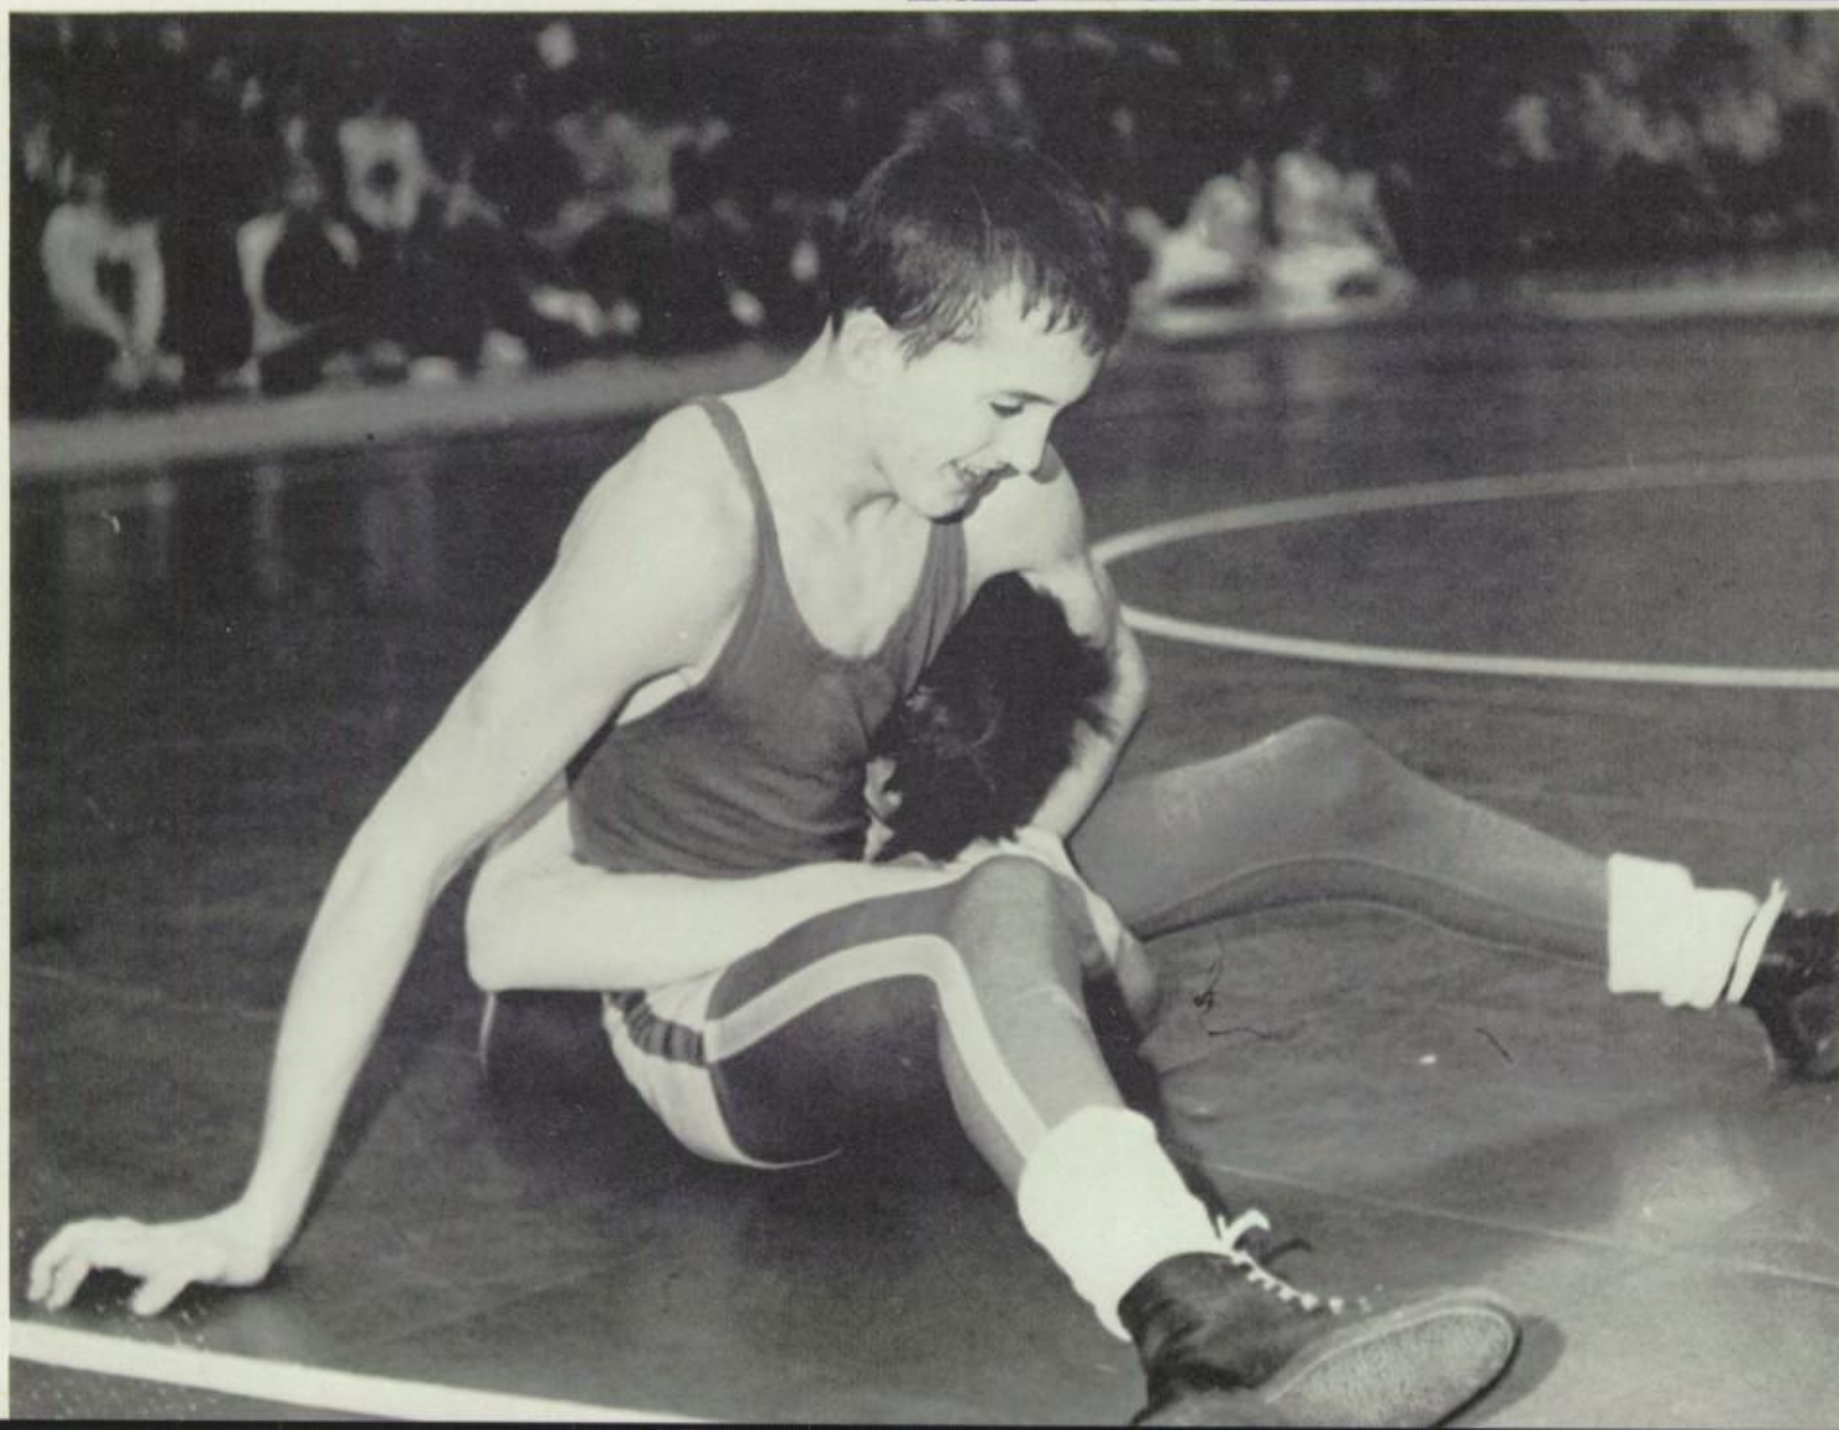

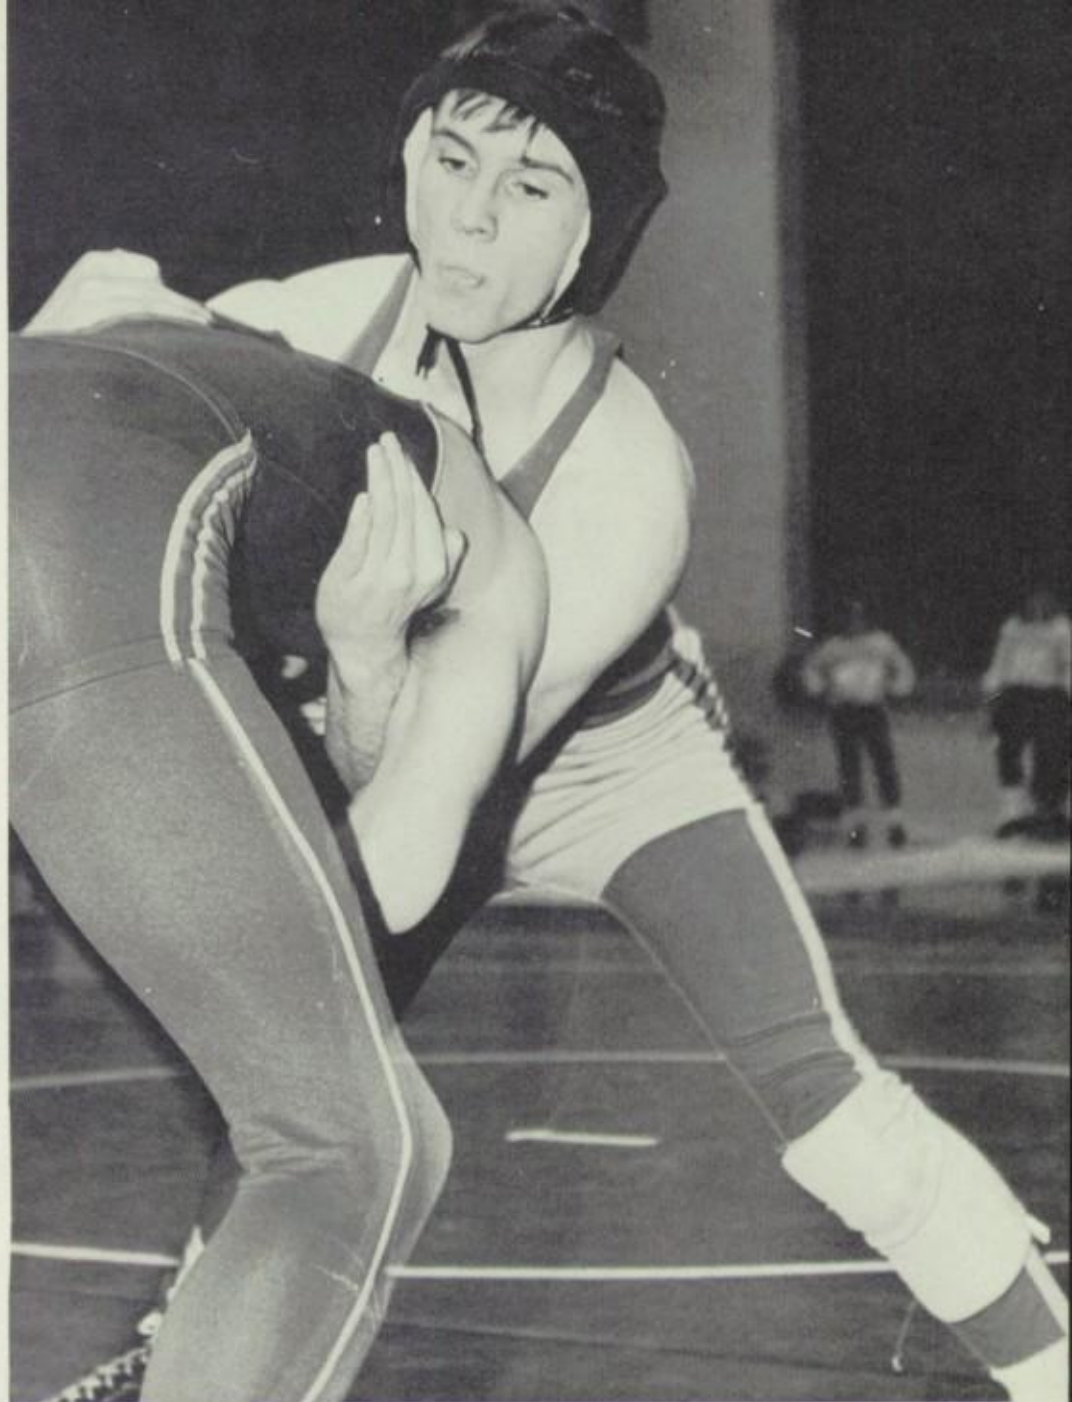

"With friends like him, who needs enemies," may be Dick Lewis' thoughts as Monte Pearson executes a vice-like hold in practice session.

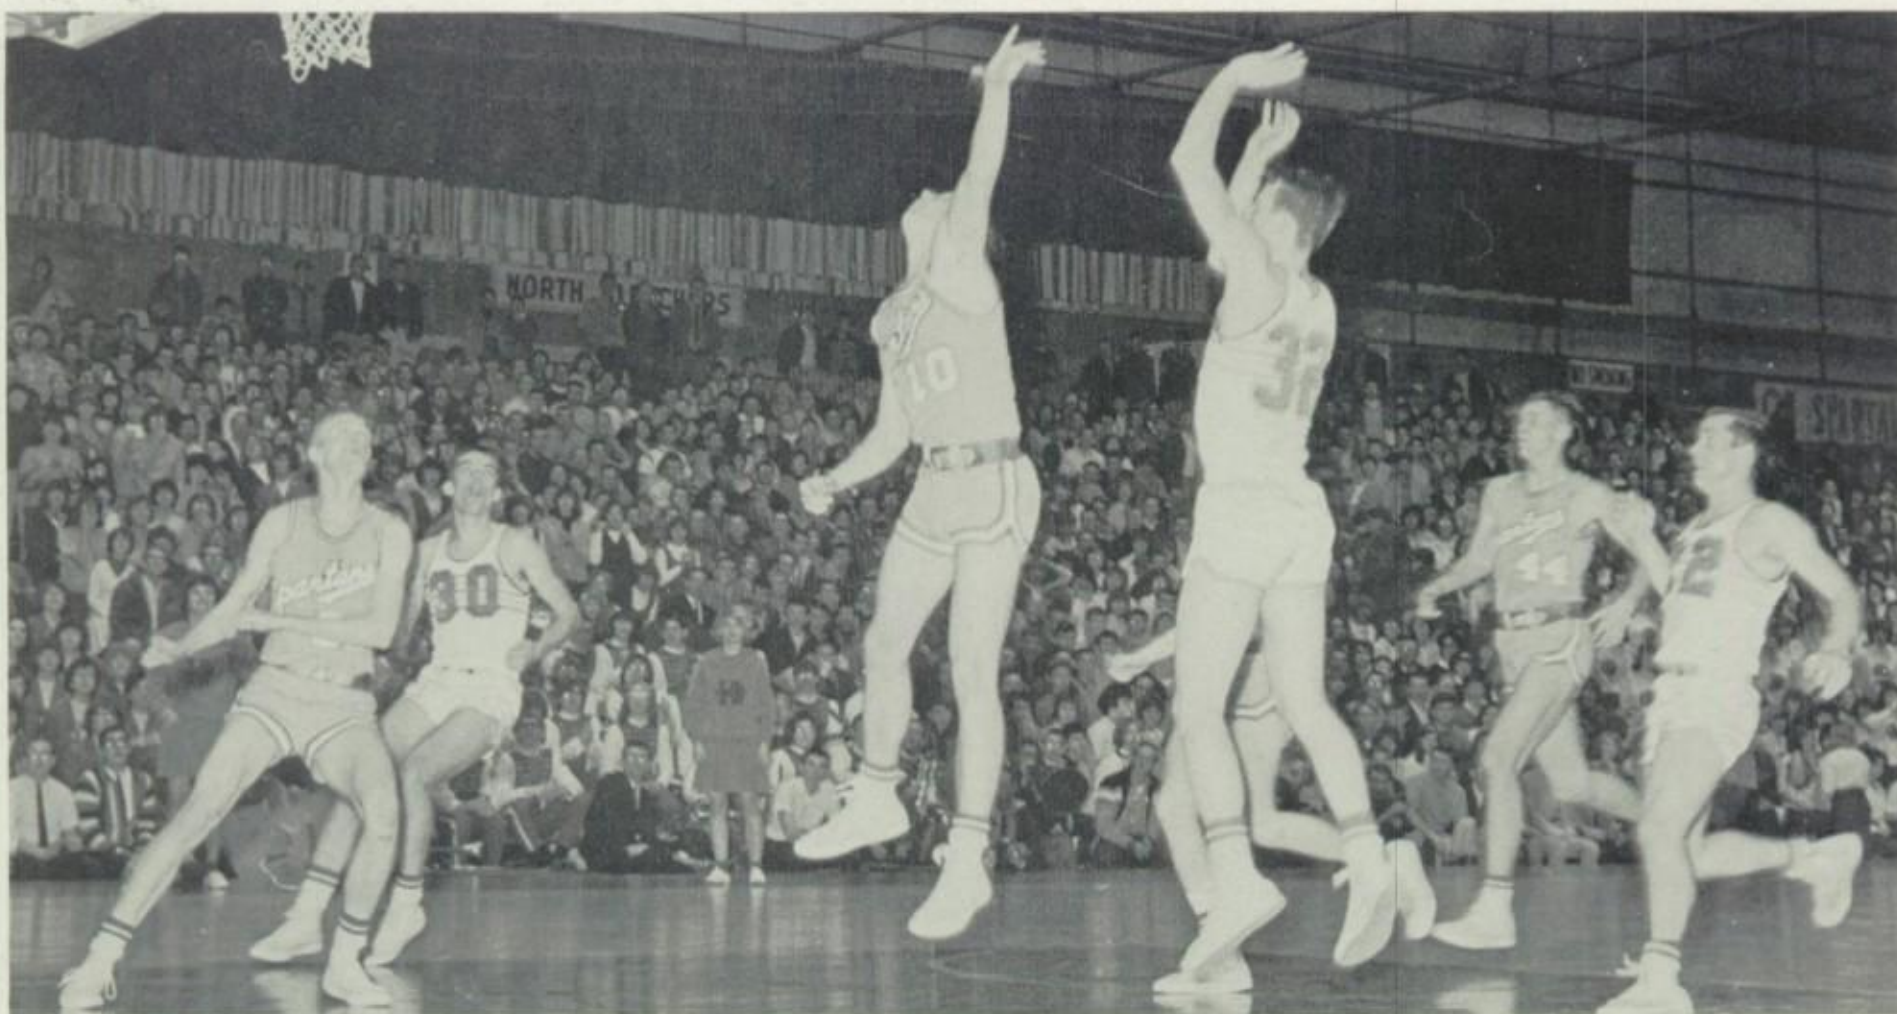

Junior Varsity seems to have its ups and downs in daily practice.

Mr. C. W. Totten, varsity coach

Personal sacrifice and unified endeavor merged to award the Hellgate Knights a hoop season that will require a Herculean effort to match.

In their second year of Class A competition, the Knights, with an often-termed racehorse style of play, exploded their way to second place in the Montana "Big 32" High School Basketball Tournament in Butte and first place champions in the Division 4 Tournament in Missoula.

With a final record of 23-5, in each contest the favorite sons provided an exciting quintet which fascinated breathless fans. Wearing the honored scarlet and gold, Sid Rhinehart was named most valuable player of the state tournament and was the lone unanimous choice on the Associated Press All-Tournament team.

As the elements of sportsmanship, knowledge of teamwork and sensations of success make stars of the roundball floor, so here are the battles of manhood contested, which will someday produce men successful in their chosen fields of life.

And so, to the Hellgate Knights of 1965-66:

"If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son."

Mr. Robert Proctor, intramural basketball sponsor.

Harriers Off with the Crack of the Gun

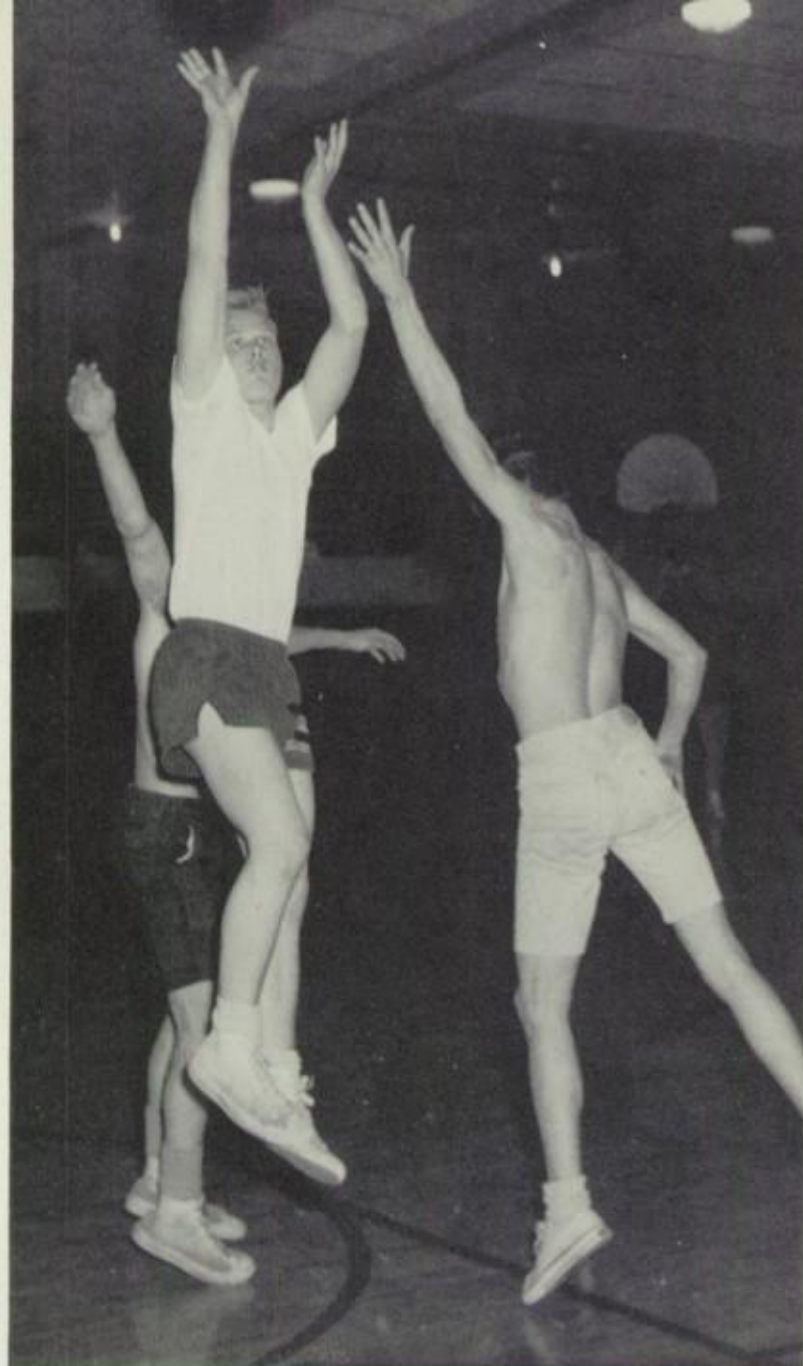

Fall training of the cross country team consisted of daily five-mile jaunts through Pattee Canyon and Rattlesnake areas and jogging around the University golf course. Such grueling practice yielded speed of foot, strength and stamina, fully preparing the harriers for their two-mile meet course.

Going into competition, Hellgate lost to Sentinel 30-25, the novice division winning 31-25. In the Missoula Invitational, the thinclads tied for first place with Butte Public and Sentinel, while the novice division placed first. At the Polson Invitational Hellgate captured first place, along with the novice division. Hellgate joggers placed fourth at the state cross country meet, wrapping up a successful season.

Sportsmanship, plus individual team determination, formed the crux of the second Intramural Basketball season. Under the supervision of Mr. Robert Proctor, four leagues of 11 freshman, 10 sophomore, four junior and five senior teams were composed of 260 boys.

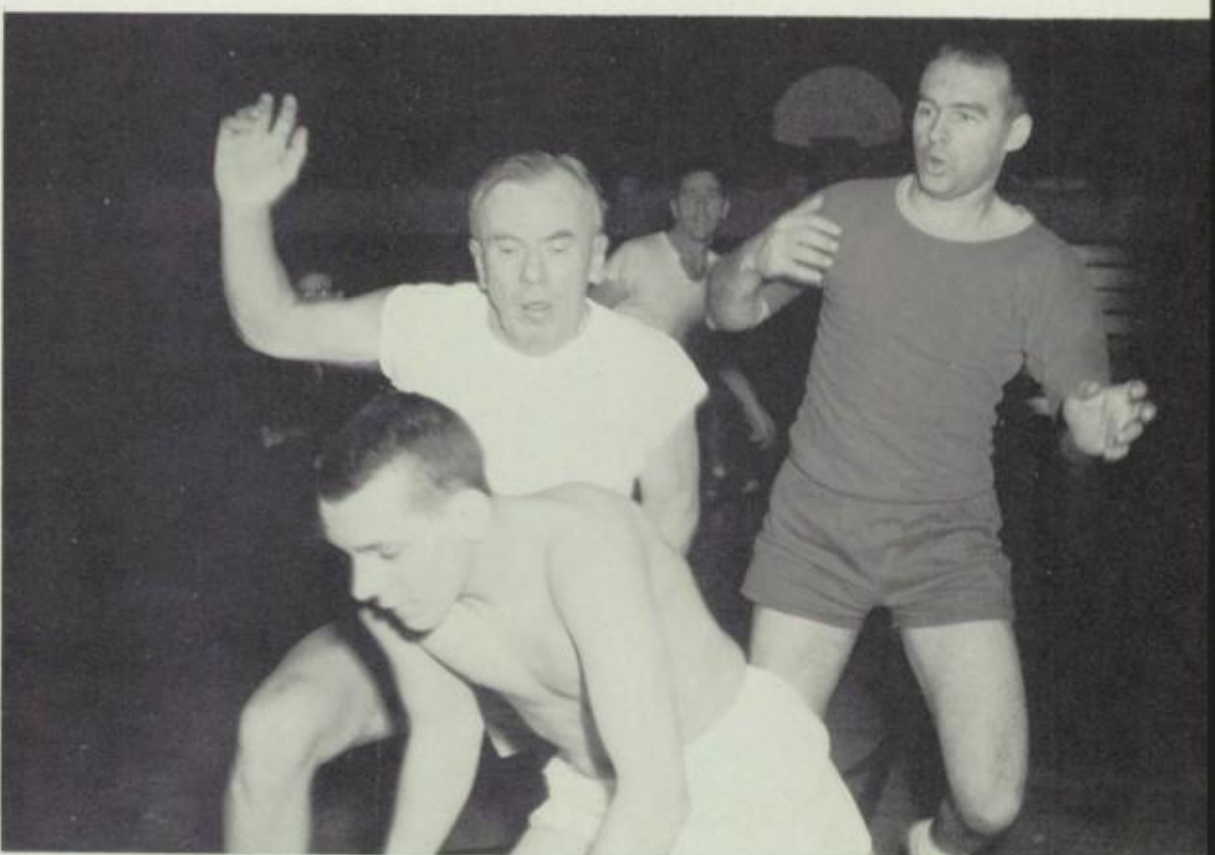

With homeroom loyalties, friends were pitted against friends and hot contests raged in conference and non-conference play.

Because no student spectatorship was allowed, Intramural Basketball was really a "boys' night out," time for "raisin' a ruckus" and letting off steam.

1965-66 SKI TEAM: Mike Collins, Rebel Prezeau, Hans Holt and Kenn Hugos.

Mr. James Bullock, ski coach.

White Mountain Magic Lures Skiers

In this "Big Sky" country, Hellgate ski team was among the first to answer the call of the slopes.

At the State High School Ski Meet in Bozeman, Hellgate placed fifth in Alpine events which consists of downhill and slalom. The spine-tickling speed of the downhill course was met by Mike Collins, placing seventh with a time of 1:23. Coach James Bullock rates Nordic (cross country) event performances as poor, and jumping commendable, considering there is no Missoula practice area for this event.

Although plagued by injuries and illness, the team showed knowledge and a reasonable mastery of the unpredictable elements of skiing.

Under a cloudy sky, Mike Collins goes into a tuck position, schussing over powdered hills.

Spirit Reigns Supreme

In any athletic endeavor, victory is much sweeter and defeat less agonizing with the whole-hearted support of ardent fans.

So Hellgate ends this year, crowning with laurels, not only its heroes, but the many whose spirit reigned supreme.

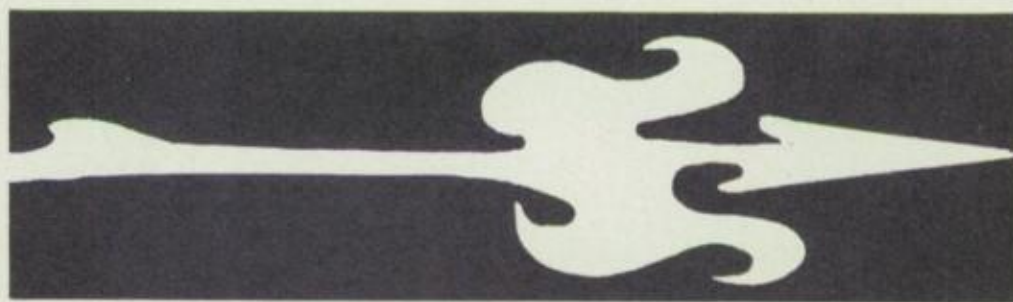

As Mr. Martens looks over the new films, Mrs. Zucconi and Mr. Stephenson check their boxes for important bulletins and notices.

Mrs. Garrett serves coffee at the Faculty Tea to Mr. and Mrs. Buzzetti while Mr. and Mrs. Gough meet other members of the faculty.

Besides teaching four to six classes a day, faculty members also sponsor all extra curricular activities. Just as important as inspiring students to read "Beowulf" or explaining the conjugation of aller is coaching the speech team to victory or tramping through the woods with the Science Club.

School Policies Set by Superintendent Bewley

As superintendent of Missoula County High Schools, Mr. Shelby Bewley works with the Board of Trustees to establish school policies.

Supervising the study courses in all three high schools and working with the Missoula Grade Schools is the job of Mr. Royal Barnell, Curriculum Coordinator.

Administration Guides Hellgate in Making

This year Hellgate High School emerges as a completely independent four year school. In all new schools, certain policies must be established. As principal of Hellgate, the difficult duty of deciding what precedents should be set, lies in the hands of Mr. Mark Jennings. Mr. Jennings is aided by his two secretaries, Mrs. Mary Shultz, and Mrs. Zelpha Lemon. These two ladies handle the paperwork involved in running a school of nearly 1450 students.

At left Mrs. Mary Shultz works with a copying machine. Printed material is put into the machine to make either ditto masters, or copies.

At right Mrs. Zelpha Lemon answers one of the numerous daily phone calls to Hellgate High School. Mrs. Lemon's other duties include the collecting of money for various student funds, and acting as a liaison between Hellgate and the central business office.

Mr. Jennings confers with Leslie Box and Denise LaTrielle.

Because they are members of our first graduating class, graduates of the 1965-66 school year from Hellgate High School will set precedent in academic, musical, athletic, dramatic, speech and many more areas of participation. Of course, records are made to be broken and the efforts of our first seniors offer the underclassmen this challenge.

Drawing upon the "Idylls of the King," I am certain that the enthusiasm of Gareth for his first quest is applicable to the "Knights and Ladies" of Hellgate High School who would "slay many dragons" this first year of the "round table."

Just as Gareth would accomplish great deeds, let us all make the most of our abilities to mark high standards for those who follow us. Let us make wise choices of the academic and co-curricular offerings of Hellgate High School and, with valor, tackle the task of preparing ourselves to take our place in our great democracy.

May our shields be "blazon'd rich and bright."

Custodial Staff

While in his office, head custodian Mr. Gerald Stiles answers the telephone.

Mr. Bernard Tintzman's primary job is to drive a bus between Hellgate and Sentinel.

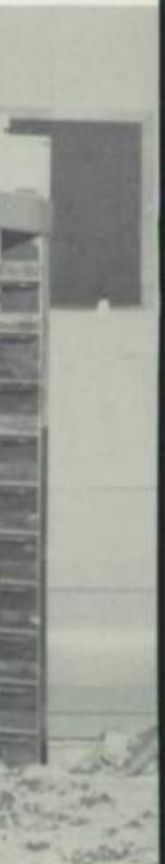

Mr. Charles Martins and Mr. Raymond Duffner beautify Hellgate by waxing and buffing the halls.

The cooks and custodians make up a very important part of Hellgate High School. The custodians, headed by Mr. Gerald Styles, perform numerous tasks in fulfilling their responsibility of maintaining the building. This involves periodically waxing floors, replacing light bulbs, operating the heating plant, disposing of garbage, erasing blackboards, and laundering towels.

It is the responsibility of the cooking staff to prepare lunch for approximately 600 students. This task is rather difficult since the lunch program is divided into three sessions. The cooks also create menus that have good nutritional value.

Head Cook, Mrs. Lillian Johnson, rolls the pizza trays to the oven.

Maintains Building

After the students leave each night, Mr. Ronald Spencer sweeps the floors.

Above: Mr. Howard Skinner and Mr. William Herberle begin one of their daily tasks. Mr. Reinhold Bierwagon and Mr. Hew Rice load the washing machine with a few of the 500 towels they wash daily.

Cooks Prepare Tantalizing Meals

Mrs. Mable Wilkison and Mrs. Catherine Douglas prepare pizza for approximately 600 hungry students.

Preparing to play in various concerts, the orchestra practices daily.

For the first time in many years Hellgate found not only freshmen and sophomore wandering it's halls but also juniors and seniors. New courses were introduced to meet the changes the upper classes required.

Classes

Steve Smuin puts the finishing touches on his drinking gourd.

Mrs. Gough explains the good and bad points of a steak to a home economics class.

Kathy Caras, Vice president

The Class of '66 brought with it the beginning of a new era. The traditions they organized and the plans they followed, set the cornerstone for Hellgate High School. Their graduation was the first of a new school.

Throughout the year they strived for class understanding and unity. With these goals achieved, plans for graduation were formulated. Announcements and caps and gowns were ordered as were a new addition, class keys.

With four eventful years behind them the Class of '66 looked toward the future. They had done their part in the establishment of Hellgate High School.

Chivalrous Gene Lewis lends a hand to Jennie Wood.

With the aid of the magazine drive the juniors began on the road to a successful Junior Prom. Florence McBride represented the class as its princess for All Knight's Day. Adding another first to Hellgate High School, the Junior Class Council broke tradition and selected round class rings for the Class of '67.
